More Ways to Engage Beyond Reading a Page

The journals of American Psychiatric Association Publishing are leading contributors to the literature. Our articles advance understanding of all aspects of mental and behavioral disorders and their treatment. With close to 10 million page views of journal content annually, APA Publishing's journals reach audiences at more than 2,000 U.S. and international institutions, a figure that includes nearly 100% of U.S. medical schools and hospitals.

APA Publishing is committed to discovery of journal articles and offers several ways to access journal content on the PsychiatryOnline knowledge portal, ensuring that practitioners can keep up with the latest findings in the manner they prefer.

PODCASTS

Each episode brings you an in-depth look at articles featured in that month's issue. Lively discussion and wide-ranging interviews with authors cover the background, rationale, main findings, and future implications of the research.

AUDIO SYNOPSES

Prepared in collaboration with Psychiatric News, these audio synopses accompany the online article and can be accessed as a skill through Amazon's Alexa app.

CURATED COLLECTIONS

These collections of recent and seminal research in a given area can be used as a launch point for authors conducting literature reviews and for educators working on course content. Curated Editor's Choice collections from Psychiatric Services are currently available.

ALERTS

Keep up with all of the latest research being published by signing up to receive Publication Alerts and following on Twitter @APAPubJournals.

GET INVOLVED!

We also encourage active contributions to our journals. Submit your research for publication consideration at one of our peer-reviewed titles. Even if you don't have a paper at present, visit our submission site and set up your reviewer account so that you have a say in future contributions to the literature.

American Neuropsychiatric Association

The American Neuropsychiatric Association (ANPA), established in 1988, is an organization of professionals in neuropsychiatry, behavioral neurology, neuropsychology and the clinical neurosciences. Our mission is to improve the lives of people with disorders at the interface of psychiatry and neurology.

Our diverse membership is comprised of professionals in all areas of neuroscience who share clinical and/or academic interests in neuropsychiatry. The Journal of Neuropsychiatry and Clinical Neurosciences (JNCN) is the official publication of the organization, and a subscription is a benefit of membership.

ANPA holds an annual scientific meeting that provides the opportunity for attendees to earn continuing education and maintenance of certification credits, as well as the opportunity for collaboration among educators, clinicians, researchers, students and trainees during research presentations, symposia, workshops, and continuing education courses. Members are encouraged to submit their work for presentation at our annual meetings. Travel awards are available for promising trainee clinicians and investigators. Annual meeting abstracts and proceedings are published in The Journal of Neuropsychiatry and Clinical Neurosciences (JNCN), the official publication of the organization.

LECTURE SERIES

for Members

The ANPA is committed to the safety and wellbeing of our community and, as we enter an era of “new normal” for medical education in this era of COVID, we are launching a series of web-based seminars for our members.

This will include a "live-platform" as well as archives of the lectures and will include relevant and emerging topics of concern to our membership.

Please check the ANPA website at www.anpaonline.org for scheduling.

Please see our website for information on the March 2021 meeting in Boston.
